Our little Brayden is gone and his suffering no more. I witnessed the heartache of your birth family when you were born, for the five years or so they had you and their diligence - and struggle - to be there for you while you were in and out of the hospital. I witnessed their unbearable grief when you were taken from them - seemingly unfairly - and their grief since. You were missed at every birthday, every family gathering, and in day-to-day life of your family. I took many a call from your nana crying her heart out not knowing where you were, how you were doing, if you were alive, loved, and happy. She no longer has to worry - she now knows. Rest in peace and perfect health now that your time and purpose on earth - and in the lives of those you touched - has been completed.
