“ In 1966 I bought a 1965 Plymouth Sport Fury that he had sold to Roland Lampin. It had a 426 wedge engine and four speed trans with limited slip rear axle. Light blue with bucket seats and a console. What a car! Rest in peace Judge.

“ Letting daddy go was quite possibly the hardest thing I've ever done. No matter how old you are, there's life with Mama & Daddy , and then your life after. I don't know what I will miss more; the way he laughed so hard he didn't make a sound, or having someone I could always lean on to talk to. So many people knew and adored him, but nobody more than his only child. Although the pain in keen and sharp, I take comfort he has his legs back u set him & is with Mama, Aunt June, uncle Tuffy, & Little Roxanne and the other angels we've lost. Go rest High on that mountain, daddy. You've earned it.
