“ This is another hard time for me, we have been through so much, but we always came out on the right side. I've loved you and my love will always be. I'll one day reunite with you and My Thomas so look for me . My heart is broken, I wait to hear you call ! I get up to call you and tell you something silly and realize your gone. The moment you took your last breathe on earth there was a smile came across your face, I knew then you had seen your heavenly Father. It gives me peace to know you are singing in the angel choir, but it doesn't change the sorrow of not having you with me on this earth. But I'll be there one day and what a reunion we will have . You maybe out of sight but always in our hearts ! I love you My Nancy !!!!
